Finders, Seekers, Info Keepers: Connecting with Today's Students

Friday, November 2, 2007
Graduate Business Center
West Chester University

This workshop has been partially funded with Federal Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) funds administered by the Office of Commonwealth Libraries and would not have been possible without the help of the College & Research Division, PaLA. Show your appreciation by becoming a member of PaLA!
And if you are a member — thank you!

Finders, Seekers, Info Keepers: Connecting with Today's Students

How do today's college students seek and find information? What are their preferences and behaviors as they go about their research and study tasks? How do librarians, as information keepers, communicate to students the value of library collections and services in today's fast-paced information environment?

Please join ACRL/DVC to hear our featured speakers and panelists as they share their research and practical experience to help us connect to our students, the primary clientele in our academic libraries.
