The Association of College and Research Libraries
Delaware Valley Chapter presents

The Future of the Catalog: Deconstruction or Reinvention?

Friday, November 3, 2006
The Gregg Conference Center
at The American College
Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania

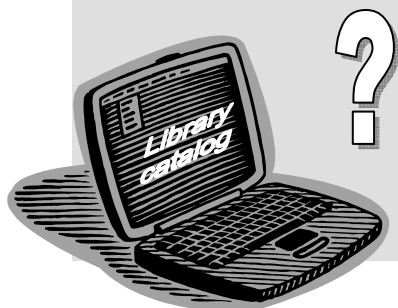

This workshop has been partially funded with Federal Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) funds administered by the Office of Commonwealth Libraries.

The Future of the Catalog: Deconstruction or Reinvention?

“Did you check the catalog?” As technological change moves rapidly and in ways we might never have imagined, is the library catalog’s very existence threatened by other finding tools? How is it changing to remain a viable tool for our patrons? How and why should library users continue to “check the catalog?”

What does the future hold? How is the new generation of library catalog being developed?

Please join ACRL/DVC to hear our four speakers as they present their experiences with the changing library catalog and share their visions for the future.
